HALLOWE'EN

Again comes 'round that gay, foolish, ridiculous night of mischievous fun—as old as the stunt granddad pulled when he and his pals took the spring wagon apart and reassembled it on the corn-crib roof, as new and fresh as the thrill of the seven-year-old who'll soap a grocery window come Saturday night, Oct. 31.

But this Hallowe'en will be a bit different. The kids may find the going easier in many instances. The dad who was pretty stern with his youngsters last year is likely to put up with the antics in pensive leniency this trip. Next Hallowe'en he may be in uniform, half a world separated from his family. The sour old man in the next block, who raised so much cain over a ticktack in past years, may not give a hoot this year—with his son, who once annoyed him with ticktacks too, overseas with the U. S. Marines.

Then, too, it is a relieving thought that American children can have fun with hobgoblins of the imagination, instead of shrinking, like the pitiable children of bombed countries, from the terror of man-made demons in form of bursting bombs.

Gay, foolish and ridiculous the night will be, as always. But a bit wistful, a little sad.

SWEDES ON PARADE

A few days ago military attaches of the Axis powers witnessed as guests a Swedish parade. The parade was part of Swedish Army maneuvers and displayed tanks, flame-throwers, dive bombers, artillery and crack infantry units. The realistic Swedes, threatened recently by Hitler because a few Swedes of Nazi pretensions lost in elections, replied to Hitler without words—in the only language he understands, the language of force. It is a great pity that the United States, England and France did not forge such a vocabulary of steel for conversation with Hitler five or six years ago.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dickerson on Everett street was the scene Tuesday evening of the marriage of their daughter Frances Bernice, 19, to Harvey Edwin Clark, of San Jose.

Rev. J. H. Bennett officiated at the ceremony after which a reception was held for relatives and friends. The young couple left that evening for a brief honeymoon in San Francisco before going to Oakland where they will make their home.

$1862 REPORTED IN CHEST DRIVE

Mrs. Ralph Hyde who has been working tirelessly on the war and community chest campaign of which she was elected manager, and Ethan Lanphear have been busy tabulating returns.

There is now $1862.17 that has been reported which is 93 per cent of the quota needed. Some districts had not turned in their reports and which when completed it is hoped will bring up the total to the desired $2000.

While the solicitors have endeavored to contact every household or individual, there undoubtedly are some who have not been reached and if any one has not yet made a contribution, it may be left with Mrs. Hyde, Mr. Lanphear or at the Campbell Water company office.

San Jose has gone over the top with its drive and other communities also, and the workers are equally desirous that Campbell shall too.

Club Wins "Bell" At Convention

Noel A. Lyman, connected with the Moon exhibit "Sermons In Science," spoke to the Kiwanis club Tuesday, being presented by C. P. Klassen, chairman.

Brief convention reports were given by members who attended the meeting in Los Angeles last week.

They proudly exhibited the "travelling bell," the trophy awarded the club for travelling the greatest number of member miles of any club in the district, which includes 157 clubs, in attending the convention. The bell remains in the club's possession for a year.

Visitors were Courtland Watson, guest of Joe Gomes, J. M. McKinnon and Mr. Webb of San Jose.

Ethan E. Lanphear and Budd Levenburg were formally inducted into the club by Dr. W. R. Morgan.

Next Tuesday one of the members of the law firm of Bonnett, Hill, Cottrell and Boccardo will be present to explain the amendments that appear on the November ballott. M. E. Purmort will be the presiding "officer of the day."

Town Mourns Untimely Death of Douglass Cutting

Funeral services for Francis Douglass Cutting, whose death occurred Sunday morning were held yesterday from the Congregational church, under the direction of the Rutherford Funeral Home, with the Rev. Joseph H. Bennett conducting the service. Organ music was played by Mrs. Irma Sanders.

Pall bearers were fellow drivers for the Greyhound lines, A. A. McArthur, D. S. Seefeldt, R. T. Gwin, J. N. Licht, L. L. Boozer, and J. N. Riley.

Private interment was in Oak Hill Memorial Park.

The death of Douglass Cutting, only 36 years of age, which resulted from an automobile collision Saturday when a car smashed head on into a bus which he was driving taking a group of Fort Ord soldiers to Sacramento, cast a gloom over this community where Cutting grew up and graduated from the local schools. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Cutting have made this their home for many years and are members of a pioneer family that have been among the community's most respected citizens.

After leaving school Douglass was for a time in the printing business in Pacific Grove, but for several years had been a bus driver for the Greyhound. Officers of that company expressed the highest praise of his efficiency and skill, considering him one of their very best.

Every honor was due him for the courageous way in which he directed the evacuation of the soldiers from the bus, although himself pinned in the crushed front of the machine, suffering from two broken legs and internal injuries.

He was a member of the Volunteer Motor Reserve Corps and of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Workers of America.

His tragic death is mourned by his parents, a ten year old son, Charles D. Cutting of Richmond and a brother Pfc Theodore B. Cutting, U. S. Army, Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colo., and many other relatives and friends.

RESOURCES OF S. A. SUBJECT OF CLUB TALK

An interesting program was enjoyed by members of the Country Woman's club when they met at the club house on Monday afternoon.

Speaker for the day was C. J. Dirksen, dean of the school of Business Administration at the University of Santa Clara, who spoke on "Natural Resources of South America and Foreign Trade." Mr. Dirksen spoke of the need for improvement in transportation facilities if South America is to advance economically. He told of their great need for capitol to develop their natural resources, such as oil and metals and the possibility of their supplying this country with rubber. We must also help them to counteract their great illiteracy, he said.

"South America is a group of nations," Dirksen said, "which depend a great deal on foreign trade and is therefore less interested in making war than the more self-sufficient nations. International trade is necessary for lasting peace."

Preceding Mr. Dirksen's talk Mrs. Earl Buck accompanied by Mrs. David Rutherford gave the following vocal selections: "Bird Songs at Eventide" by Eric Coates, "Clavelitos" by Vallverde and "Morning" by Oley Speaks.

Miss Marilyn De Vita gave a Spanish dance. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Rutherford.

The hall was cleverly decorated with bowls of cactus, pampas grass, and torch lilies.

Program chairman was Mrs. Ray Wood and her committee, Mrs. L. J. Carboni, Mrs. Georgene Kidward, Mrs. T. A. Cutting and Mrs. Anthony Jurras.

The program followed the usual business meeting presided over by Mrs. G. E. Jeffers. The club voted to buy a memorial book for the library each year, honoring a deceased member of the club. A donation of $15 from the personal funds of the club was voted for the War Chest.

The next gathering of the club will be on Nov. 2 at 2:30 o'clock and is the annual guest day when members will enjoy a social afternoon with friends and newcomers in the community.

Miss Martha Parr will give a book review and tea will be served.

Mrs. Joseph Agostinho will be chairman of the day and will be assisted by Mrs. I. R. Abbott, Mrs. L. C. Shank, Mrs. B. E. Walton, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. Hattie Baugh, and Mrs. Nellie Mills.

The girls Horizon club of Campbell has disbanded owing to transportation problems and loss of their adviser Mrs. Arnold Applegarth who has moved away since her husband entered the navy.

GAS RATIONING AHEAD

Gone are the days when a multi-colorod stream of cars sped from cities in endless caravans on Saturday afternoons, streaking over highways to the beach, to the Sierra high country, or the ranch in the foothills.

Gone, too, are the days when the screech of tires side-slipping on a curve taken too quickly, created only indifference or annoyance. Today those sounds stir indignation, proclaiming as they do the wasteful act of an irresponsible who scorns the pleas of his own government.

And gone, almost, are the days when anyone of California's more than 3 million drivers could pull into a service station and call, "Fill 'er up!" Perhaps not till the boys come home, dragging Hitler and Hirohito behind them, will that cry again be heard in the land.

Beginning on November 9, California's great army of civilian motorists, along with those of 30 other states, must register at local schoolhouses for gas rationing cards. "A" coupon books will entitle owners to an average of 4 gallons of gas a week for the next year. The purpose of this drastic gas rationing program is, of course, not to conserve gas, but tires.

Gone are the days of care-free pleasure driving, but by no means gone is America's dependence on the rolling wheels of motor transportation.

THE DIRECT PAYROLL TAX

The method of piling on a heavy burden bit by bit, so that the pack animal may brace himself and become prepared for the full load, is being practiced wisely by the federal government in war taxation.

Ahead now appears a 5 per cent direct levy from earnings. This is an extreme step, viewed from, say, a year ago—but not so extreme a step to contemplate now. Victory, the nation has come to realize, calls for a taxpaying burden of the pack-animal variety.

Because of this realization, however, the California taxpayer has become all the more impatient of unneeded state taxes of the "continued because customary" stamp. It appears by the public temper that the California state income tax, still on the books despite the fact that the state treasury already has a war-prosperity surplus of $42,000,000, will be killed dead as the dodo by an affirmative vote on Proposition 4, the state income tax repeal initiative at the general election on November 3.

FOR A SOLDIER'S CHRISTMAS

Hundreds of thousands of American boys who have never before this year been outside the United States —scores of thousands who have never before spent a Christmas away from home, will spend Christmas Day beyond broad oceans. The day will dawn upon them in Ireland, England, Egypt, India, New Zealand and a dozen other far places.

Unless Christmas packages, letters and cards addressed to all such soldiers are mailed before Nov. 1, there is little likelihood that they will be delivered by December 25.

If a soldier overseas has no reminder that anyone at home thought of him, it will be the fault of some one who just couldn't get around to mailing something in time.

Don't let a soldier of your acquaintance down on Christmas Day! The nature of the gift isn't important. The important thing to him will be a message of Merry Christmas from home. The important thing to that end is to mail your package or message before Nov. 1—and that date is just around Father Time's nearest corner!

NAVY DAY

Navy Day, Oct. 27, serves a useful purpose in times of peace. Americans have always taken pride in boasting of an efficient, well-officers, well-manned Navy and when war seemed a distant, dim, improbable event, it was a pleasure for coastal cities to show their hospitality to sailors on Navy Day, and a pleasure for citizens to visit the sleek, light-gray warships as they lay at anchor in placid harbors.

Now, the ships are in dark battle paint, and most of them are far away. When they come home, it is for brief visits for war purposes — sometimes to have wounds repaired in their steel bodies; every hour of the 24 they are on grim war business, and there is no time for observance of any holiday.

But the Navy and the American people need no holiday, in the customary sense, to make of October 27 the greatest Navy Day in all the Navy's glorious history. Every day of every month since last December 7 has been a day in which the Navy has earned the admiration and the gratitude of the nation that created it. Dealt a terrible, treacherous, infamous blow below the belt at Pearl Harbor, the Navy has come back to smash enemies at the battles of the Coral Sea, Midway and Solomons; has defied the submarines and planes and warships of enemies to deliver vital convoys of troops and materials to Australia, Russia, England and the Near East.

In this war, so far, the Navy has suffered greater losses than in all previous wars from the Revolutionary War to the first World War. But the iron men in iron ships have kept every enemy from America's shores. This war is hard. And the Navy has proven to the nation its ability and relentless determination to "seek out the enemy and destroy him." Young men without fear replace those lost; ships built by sure, tireless hands replace those lost: the American Navy will triumph on the seven seas. This should be the proudest Navy Day ever.

NON-ARYAN LEMONS

"Only the products of German earth creat German blood," said the Nazi propagandists in a campaign against, of all things, that innocent and healthful fruit, the lemon. The object was, of course, to present the unwelcome shortage as a blessing in disguise by which Germans were saved from " the contamination of a dangerous, weakening food."

Other fruits besides the proverbial grapes are sour to the Nazi fox.

Telephone calls play a vital part in building tanks, guns, ships, planes. They help to move millions of men to the fighting fronts. War is on the wires. There must be no blocking of these war calls.

We cannot build new lines to carry them because copper, nickel and rubber are shooting, not talking, materials right now.

What we can do is to make the most of what we have. You can help by making Long Distance calls only when they are really necessary. And on these, please be as brief as you can.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"They Were Expendable" by W. L. White.

With the fall of the Philippines still fresh in our minds and hearts, to read such a piece of literature as Mr. White's "They Were Expendable" is making the fall of those islands a personal experience.

The author, as you no doubt already know, is the son of one of our well known and greatly loved contemporary men of letters—William Allen White of Emporia, Kansas. W. L. White has to his credit, prior to this recent publication, "A Journey for Margaret," a story of the "Battle for Britain."

"To be expendable," explains the author, "it's like this. Suppose you're a machine-gunner and your army is retreating and the enemy advancing. The captain takes you to a machine gun covering the road. 'You're to stay here and hold this position,' he tells you. 'For how long?' you ask. 'Never mind,' he answers, 'just hold it.' Then you know you're expendable." To advance the theory further, he goes ahead to say that in a war anything can be expendable, money, equipment, gasoline or most usually men.

This story is told to the author by the four survivors of Squadron 3, Bulkeley, Kelly, Akers and Cox, whose names are already known throughout the nation. "Lolling" in a bunk of the officers' quarters of the Motor Torpedo Boat station at Melville, R. I., each in their turn as an incident occurred in their minds, the horrible, sad and tragic tale of the fall of Manila is portrayed. Personal reactions, human relations and humorous, yes humorous, reactions even in a war, are related in a fashion that one can never forget. Such a clear, true picture of the actual happenings of a battle so heroically fought and lost can not be compared to any other book yet written.

It is in one of these MTB's that General Douglas MacArthur, with his family, and staff, made his escape from the Philippines. The escape, or rather the narrative of it, is one of the most exciting parts of the book, and an episode that will be an unforgetable chapter in our world history.

This book covers the battle of the Philippines from the day of the Japanese attack until the four survivors were rescued by a plane sent out from Australia by MacArthur to bring them to safety.

Local Theater to Show Popular Production

The recently released picture "Tales of Manhattan" from the Fox studios, is another of the stupendous attractions coming to Campbell theatre.

No less than 17 of the principle radio and screen stars take part, including Charles Boyer, Rita Hayworth, Ginger Rogers, Henry Fonda, Edward G. Robinson, Charles Laughton, Paul Robeson, Rochester, Ethel Waters, Thomas Mitchell, Eugene Pallette, Cesar Romera, Gail Patrick, Roland Young, Elsa Lanchester, George Sanders, and James Gleason.

"Surely," said George Arlidge, manager, "this is enough to satisfy the most critical audience, and in addition there is superb music by a 110 piece symphony orchestra. This is not just incidental music, but is really featured, an integral part of the story."

This production is showing at Campbell Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 25, 26, 27 and takes the place of the picture "I Married An Angel," previously scheduled.

The companion picture will be "Spy Ship," a timely and terrific tale of the seas, featuring Craig Stevens and Rene Manning.

PENSIONERS BACK WARREN'S OLD AGE PLAN

Candidate Given Credit For Liberalization of Present State Pension Allowance

Says Pension Is a "Matter of Right" Earned During Production Years

"Earl Warren, candidate for Governor, has done more in a few months to secure for California pensioners a liberal interpretation of regulations affecting 'outside income' than any other person." . . "He should be elected Governor, and thousands of California's 'Elder Citizens' are going to see that he is elected." . . . "In every city and town in the State old people are among his chief supporters, and are earnestly working to place him at the head of the State government.' "

These are the statements of hundreds of Pension recipients who declare that it was largely through Earl Warren's efforts that the California regulations on earnings allowed pensioners were liberalized.

"There has been too much politics and not enough action," Warren says, adding:

"I believe in an old age pension as a matter of right—as something we earn in our productive years by our contributions to the upbuilding of the community. If I am elected Governor of California, I shall see that that principle is embodied in our pension laws."

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Only time and practical experience will tell the full effect of President Roosevelt's directive, ordering the freezing of prices, rents, salaries and wages under the new anti-inflation law enacted by Congress, but in the final analysis the success or failure of the program will depend largely on whether wage stabilization and price stabilization are both enforced with equal vigor and fairness.

There are apparent loopholes in wage control features of the program which must be carefully watched, for if the government shows a disposition to deal leniently with the wage provisions, and permits labor costs to spiral, while seeking to enforce ceilings on prices, there will be disastrous consequences.

This much is certain: No group in America can be excused from making sacrifices; no political favoritism can be permitted; no pressure group can be allowed to escape the same measure of sacrifice demanded of other groups, if the program is to be effective.

The action of Congress in writing into the anti-inflation bill a provision that the increase in farm wages since Jan. 1, 1941, would be taken into consideration in figuring farm ceilings, was a signal victory for the farm organizations which had conducted the fight in Washington for practical safeguards to prevent unfair discrimination against the farming industry and serious impairment of agriculture's ability to produce. It was an admission by Congress—and by the administration—that agriculture's position was right and sound, despite the fact that attempts have been made since to make it appear that opponents of the farm policy had won out.

Agriculture now has a responsibility, in common with other groups which are determined to make the anti-inflation program effective, to see that no favoritism is played in the administration of the plan.

The seriousness of the problem—and the vital need of guarding against any action which would further impede agriculture in the battle of production—was clearly set forth in a statement of the House Agricultural committee after a six months inquiry into the farm situation.

Reported the committee: "There absolutely will be a food shortage in the near future unless something is done about the inability of farmers to get labor and equipment to produce enough food for the United Nations."

There can be no doubt of the patriotic determination of American agriculture to measure up to the emergency. The American farmer will work from dawn to dark, and will make any necessary sacrifice, to meet the nation's war production needs. But the farmer will be helpless to cope with the situation if he is placed at such a disadvantage in the labor market that he is unable to get workers to plant and harvest his crops.

It isn't in the hope of making a profit that farmers are insisting that their labor costs be figured into their production costs; it is simply and solely to avert the disastrous breakdown in agricultural production which will inevitably result if urban industries continue to drain away farm labor. And if wages in the cities continue to go up, while prices that the farmer gets for his produce are frozen so that he is unable to meet urban competition for his labor, then chaos will result.

For the security of the country—not just for the sake of agriculture — it is imperative that wage and price controls be enforced equally and impartially. And American farm organizations intend to keep a vigilant eye on developments to see that the program is administered in that fashion.

A. Carmichael Urges Support of Byrl R. Salsman

Meeting this week in San Jose with prominent men and women of the county, Arthur Carmichael, San Jose civic leader and former chairman of the Republican County Central committee, urged full support of Byrl R. Salsman's candidacy for state senator in the general election Nov. 3.

In his talk Carmichael told his listeners that all-out efforts are being made to elect Warren Governor of California, but that Warren had little chance of fulfilling his program unless he had a cooperative legislature, especially the state senate. He urges every Warren supporter to support Salsman with equal vigor to insure Warren full cooperation as Governor.

"Salsman's service as our Assemblyman," said Carmichael, "proves that he stands for the same type of government as Warren. I strongly appeal to every man and woman in this county who will vote for Warren Nov. 3, to vote as well for Salsman. Then we can really get leadership instead of politics in state government."

The Ellis Crane family left yesterday for San Diego, their former home. Civic Leader Speaks Highly of Coroner's Service

Speaking before a large group of Santa Clara county women in San Jose this week, Mrs. C. C. Gilliam, prominent welfare and civic leader in San Jose, paid high tribute to the public service of Coroner Jessie A. Spalding.

Mrs. Gilliam said she has been associated with Coroner Spalding in welfare and civic work for many years, and declared Santa Clara county could well be proud of Coroner Spalding's work both in public and private life.

"Coroner Spalding," Mrs. Gilliam said, "has brought credit to the office she holds and to the people she has served so well.

"Coroner Spalding has earned the right to continue in our service and people of this county will take cognizance of loyal and faithful service when they go to the polls Nov. 3. They will not be fooled by the false claims of selfish interests seeking to gain control of this important office."

Through an error in information the name of the new member of the Kenneth Dwelley family appeard incorrect last week. It should have been Kenneth Bruce.

HERE IS WHY FUSES BLOWOUT AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

It's maddening when a fuse blows out. When this happens, however, it is a warning that some appliance may have overloaded a circuit, or there may be a loose connection causing a "short." You can save time by replacing fuses yourself. It is easy to do this and you help us save tires on service cars that are needed to help maintain the delivery of power to war industries. Ask for your copy of P. G. and E. booklet "Guide to Gas and Electric Service" that tells what to do when the lights go out. It is available FREE at any company office.

TAKE CARE of plugs that start spittin' like a kitten. It is advance notice that a wire is about to burn through or a plug terminal is about to give way.

BEWARE of jerking appliances about by the cord. This loosens terminal connections and causes short circuits and blowouts.

BEWARE of using too many appliances at one time on a branch circuit. This overloads circuits and causes blowouts.

TAKE CARE to have a supply of fuses of the right size on hand. 15 ampere fuses (not 20 or 30 amperes) are right for lighting circuits.

Buy a supply of fuses from your dealer today.
